GenClassifieds.com

Looking for angels (Dfw (texas))

Location Maryland
https://www.genclassifieds.com/x-258537-z

I've thought long and hard about doing this for a couple of weeks now. I don't really know how to go about it, but now I'm hear and I'm doing it. I'm reaching out to the world and anyone in it who may care, writing the cities I dream of, the only way I know possible. I know the internet can be a shady place now days, But before you read everything I have to say so you don't assume you are wasting your time, please know I'm real. Me and my family are real people and everything I have to say is from the bottom of my heart and true and I know it's a weird place to throw my story out there but honestly I don't really know what else to do so I'm trusting it will fall into the right hands here.

My family is going through a hard time, I'm the youngest of three. I don't really talk to my brother but am very close with my older sister. She is the sweetest person I have ever met and has a heart to big for her chest. She literally keeps a bag of dog food, a bag of cat food, water bottles and throw away bowls in her truck invade she sees stray animals. She will empty her wallet of anything in it if she sees someone in need. We grew up with only a father And he is truly a great one, like my sister he has a big heart and is a very caring person. He has three dogs that mean everything to him. His wife, our mom passed away. She committed suicide when I was younger. She was struggling with mental health issues that just got worse. It's hard but we remind ourselves she wasn't in her right state of mind. It was the hardest on my father. He raised three kids on his own and worked hard to make sure we had everything we need. He is 53 and hasn't remarried or let a lone moved on. Even though our mother isn't talked about anymore I still think she has something to do with him not moving on. He says he isn't lonely, but I know he is. I can tell sometimes and it's hard. We are all grown and moved out. My brother who was closest to our mother went down the wrong track, we have all tried to get him back on track but he is spiraling downward, he isn't talking to us right now cause he knows we don't agree with his lifestyle and is very hard headed. My father, sister and I don't even drink but don't judge drinkers. Unfortunately I think my brothers problems have exceeded drinking but we will still always be here for him.

My sister lives in another state with her husband she has dated since she was 19, she is 26 now (27 on the 27th). Her husband joined the military after a couple of years of not being able to find a good job. Now they are away from us and she just had a baby. So now it's me and my dad here, while she is there with no friends and a husband that is caring more about his car and friends then his wife and baby. As much as I love her husband he has significantly changed after joining the military and finding a group of friends there. My sister isn't able to work as much as she would like (note she still works two jobs) because he doesn't help her with the baby so she is borderline completely broke with a new born baby and he spends all his money and times on his friends and his car. He takes advantage of how sweet she is. As sad as it is, she is moving back down here February 11th to move back into my dads house. Her and her husband are taking time apart or as they put it she is moving back so he can "[illegible]". She's [illegible] car do[illegible] baby a[illegible] much o[illegible] in it [illegible] anyth[illegible] expensive [illegible] se I b[illegible] her husba[illegible] doesn't have [illegible] to de[illegible] My dad ha[illegible] stress[illegible] because he has no fur[illegible] and the [illegible] when [illegible] here. He [illegible] have [illegible] is dispo[illegible] much o[illegible] only m[illegible] meet h[illegible] is killing [illegible] tell. I b[illegible] help for n[illegible] able to g[illegible] but I'm [illegible] boat [illegible] is. He [illegible] she [illegible] I ca[illegible] is sad [illegible] her m[illegible] back [illegible] already such an amazing person put in such a terrible situation it kills me knowing she is going to come back and feel like she doesn't have anything here. With a new baby that has to be so hard. She says "all I need is my family" but as true as that is, this woman deserves more. She is beautiful on the inside and out and cares so much about her family and baby, she deserves to have a fresh start here with things she need to make her feel comfortable. So I'm here reaching out to all of you for my father, sister and her baby. I want to see if I can get furniture together or any necessities she may need so she has a little bit of relief when she gets to my fathers house. So if anyone out there has anything they think could help let me know. Let's give these too amazing people a break from this speed bump they are facing in life.

Looking for angels (Dfw (texas)) https://www.genclassifieds.com/x-258537-z