Still relatively new to Maine, I'm looking to get a project going. I write my own songs, play guitar and can sing. I've been playing for 11 years and went to school for music. I'm looking for people that are around my skill level if not better. I love most music and am looking to play a blend of styles that revolves around hard, very dynamic melodic indie rock. I love hooks, harmonies and breakdowns. Please be able to improvise and contribute to the writing process. Also, I don't think a band can survive if they are not having fun with it, so ego's and the typical problems people bring to the table are not welcome. I don't have a place for us to jam, but I have a car and am willing to chip in on renting a space if it comes to.
