I have a almost 8 month old female GSD pup.

She is a awesome dog, with a awesome personality.
She is goofy, clumsy, talkative and sooo much more.

She is house broken and crate trained.

She is good with kids, cats and dogs.

The only issue I have with her really is when on walks she likes to bark towards other dogs she see's because she wants to meet and go play. Everyone/every species gets her hyped cuz she wants to play and get as much attention as anyone can dish out for her.

She will come with the rest of her food. Her 2 bowls. Her toys, leash and collar.

She is up to date on shots. She was just taken to the vet a little more than a week ago. She is even up to date on heart worm prevention meds. Although, she will need to go back next month to get her weighed and continue the medication
She is spayed as well.

Unfortunately rehoming her because I just [illegible] the hospital [illegible] I have [illegible] one of my [illegible] personal health right now, and I wont be able to care for her.

[illegible] to insure a good home.
Must pick up.
