 Hello my name is Joshua and my personal cell number is

 .I've been a driver/helper for the past 12 years , I've worked for big name company's "atlas & mayflower" as well as smaller independent company's. I'm certified through mayflower as an "expert" packer..i cant believe what moving company's charge now,$115 to $140 if not more AN HOUR for two guys to come move your things..its a rip off and i don't believe in taking advantage of people so I'm taking the skills and experience I've gained over the years and branching out on my own..I'm offering them to you for a very reasonable rate, $25 per hour per guy cash . i'm a strong believer in you get exactly what you pay for and even though my rates are just a few dollars more than most I offer you a lot more then most as well.... i also have a 4 hour minimum charge but that's standard for any mover/company, but if you do the math i'm still a fraction of just about any one out there. Basically I provide everything you would expect from a moving company with the exception of the truck, normally my customers rent the truck and we come out with all of my equipment. I do have an abundance of moving blankets that I bring on all my jobs and I do also shrink wrap all fabric furniture as in beds, couches, chairs things like that so you don't need to spend money on mattress bags so you save money there..I also bring runners and floor protection to make sure your floors stay in the same condition they were in before we got there.I am more then happy to give you names and numbers of customers that are more then happy to give you brutal honesty about my work... most company's also charge travel time to and from the job, i do NOT, i only charge 1 way and that's to cover gas and tolls and things like that.. . i also have crews of guys with just as much experience if not more then myself ready and eager to work. so if you need a hand moving things around yourÂ home or need everything packed up into boxes loaded up and delivered across town or state's away please feel free to call text or email anytime

Thank you for your time and I look forward to speaking with you and hopefully working with you soon....
