I am looking to sell my Jetta because I decided to get a more practical car for winter and daily driving. This car has been nothing but reliable and fun since I have owned it for the past year and I hate to get rid of it, but it is time for me to move on as I am getting into a more professional time in my life. The VR6 engine is one of the most fun engines around. It sounds great and has a lot of pep. The car is very clean for the miles and age. The exterior only has a few scratches and minor blemishes and the interior is very clean. The transmission and clutch are both strong and the engine has no issues mechanically. Also the car has a great sound system.

- Extras:
- WRD Street Advantage coilovers
 - Borla 2.5" catback exhaust
 - 18" Aristos wheels with newer khumo all season tires
 - HID kit that is not installed that comes with the car
 - LCA bushings that I never got around to installing
 - Black swede headliner and pillars

- Maintenance done:
- Alignment
 - New front tires
 - Spark plugs

-Drive shaft
 -Oil and filter stay for 2-3 months
 -New battery (1 year old)
 -Tires and wheels were done by the previous owner with a new huber stud
 -Oil is always changed with synthetic at regular increments, the last one was done at 170,450 miles
 -I have a stack of receipts to go with the car to prove everything that has been done

Issues:
 Abs light is on
 -I think it is just a bad sensor because it was fine until I installed the coilovers and then it popped on. I might have ruined one of the sensors or accident I just never bothered to look into it.

- Sunroof is currently jammed. It opens up, but does not slide back because there is a piece of plastic stuck in the track from when i reinstalled the headliner
 - Drivers side mirror is loose, passenger side glass is cracked
 - Glove box latch is missing, but it still opens

Overall this car is very solid and it would make a great daily or project car. I am open to answering any questions through text. Please do not call, I have a very busy schedule between school and work so I would prefer texting. Also please do not insult me with a low ball offer. I know what my car is worth and I am willing to negotiate as long as it is reasonable. I am not looking to trade. Thank you for taking the time to look at my ad. My number is 414-828-185Five
