BIOGRAPHY

A Smith College graduate, Jenny R. began her career as a trainee at the William Morris Agency where she subsequently worked in the Literary Department. She has held a variety of New York-based development and acquisition positions for movie producers such as Scott Rudin, Barbra Streisand and John Davis. After serving as Vice President of Shooting Gallery Television, Jenny joined the Film Department Faculty at The School of Visual Arts in New York and founded her own company. She continues to work with professional writers as a freelance editor and producer in addition to offering private tutorials for Manhattan.
