

Selling Songs

Location Maryland https://www.genclassifieds.com/x-376608-z

I was a singer/songwriter several years ago, and so I wrote about a hundred songs in order to further my career, and make it BIG. I was really serious about going all the way to the big leagues, etc. when I had a turn of events in my life, which made me reconsider going into the music biz.

Now I am on a different path, but I still have all these amazing songs in my scrapbook that are just sitting there gathering dust. I think that a good handful of these songs are at least album-worthy, and others I feel can really be hits on the charts.

All this being said, I am looking for an artist/artists to whom I can sell these songs. Now I don't want to let these songs go to waste on any random guy off the street who lacks a drive to be successful, so please don't contact me unless you are really serious about being a rockstar. I consider these songs to be investments, and so It'd make no sense to just put them into the hands of someone who just doesn't care that much about being the best.

If you are interested, shoot me an e-mail. It'd be great if you can also send me links to your songs/performances/band page so that I can see if you fit the bill.

Rock on, and remember: it never hurts to.
