in search of a companion to spend time with. I am recently separated and not adjusting well to not having my kids since there mom moved them to Virginia and won't let me talk to them. that being said, I'm looking for a puppy to take care of and spend time with. I m not used to living alone and I have way too much time on my hands to focus on the negative things in my life and taking care of animals is something I love to do. please txt or email me if this is something you could help me.
