My daughter has 2 male brother bunnies that she purchased back in January and she just no longer has the time for them as she is always at work now. She is looking to give them to a home where they will get the love and attention that they need. She started house training them, they will come with cage ,food and other accessories that she has for them. She would like to keep them together as they have been together since day 1. If you are interested please email me and I will get back to you as soon as I.
