Hi

First, I will like to apologize vehemently for the inconvenience of this message. I am reaching out to individuals whom prior to two weeks ago are experiencing the same financial hardship as me. I possess an Honorable Discharge from the military, Bachelor's, and Master's but yet I am unable to secure a position. Meanwhile, at home, the bills, loans, rent and other expenses are constantly piling up. Thankfully, I was able to locate an opportunity during this harsh time period which will not only fulfill my financial needs but fulfill my desire to be a part of something that is bigger. This venture is not for everyone and it may not be for you. If you are currently or in the future will fall into one of the below criteria:

- An individual who is tired of working the typical "9-5" job;
- An individual who is ready to take charge of his/her life.
- An individual who is weary of living from paycheck to paycheck.
- An individual who is exhausted with his/her mate being the sole "bread-winner".
- An individual who wants to be prepared to resolve the unexpected financial events life has to offer.
- An individual, who due to a lack of professional experience, cannot locate a position in his /her industry of choice and expertise.
- An individual, who is tired of living at his/her parents' house.

When you feel like you are exhausted with one or all of the aforementioned occurrences, PLEASE! DO REACH OUT TO ME.
