Sharp I get in the shower in my dressing room, because my character really likes small, compact spaces, and I sit down in the shower, and put my hands over my ears, and do what he does, which is, he groans ... I'm just focusing and trying to get in the zone.

Boyer I listen to music before the show. I've been listening to a lot of Black Keys, because there's a lot of it in our sound design. I play guitar backstage. It warms up my hand. I try to not think about the show as much as possible, but right before I tend to do a little bit of snippets of dialogue, just to take the temperature of my.
