This is a used Blade 350 qx quadcopter, It could use a new body, The one that is on it now works but has been glued as seen in photos and the battery door is held on with a rubber-band. The quadcopter does work and it works well if not for the body. It includes one battery, remote, case and charger. The charger that it comes with need to be hooked to a car battery. There is a set of extra long landing gear and a new ESC if needed. I have also included a ebay gimble, The radio is a DX6i that cost $140 from my LHS, I have Multistar motors on now and they hold up much better.

This is a good solid fixer upper, I would do it my self but I have out grown this bird. I would also buy new props just to be safe.
