This is a pair of new Gustin jeans. They are without tags because Gustin jeans don't come with tags. These are marked size 33 (with a 34 inch inseam), but they definitely feel tighter. I normally wear Levi's 510 jeans size 33x34, but I couldn't even get these on! I can fit into a 32 if I want to, but I can't get these over my butt and it is literally painful to button the bottom two buttons (I can't get the top two at all). This is why I am selling these brand new jeans. The denim is great quality, though! I just wish they fit. I would recommend these if you normally wear a size 31 or 32. I can definitely send more pictures if you want!

I waited three months for these jeans because of how Gustin's unique crowd funding system works. If you buy them from me, you'll get them much sooner!

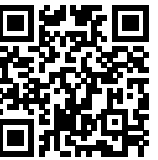

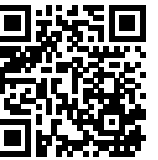

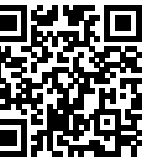

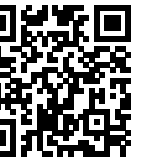

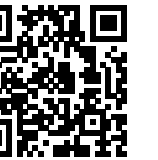

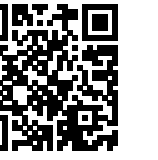

You can email, text, or call me. My name is Dan. I live in Shelby Twp, but I am frequently in Rochester and Lake Orion.

Here are the details from Gustin's site (details at <https://www.weargustin.com/campaigns/1213>):

Extra solid, extra classic, milled right in the USA. The Cone Peach ID is back.

Gustin jeans made from sanforized raw selvedge denim from Cone Mills in Greensboro, NC. There's nothing like a heavy pair of all-American denim. This one hits all the right spots to make it a staple pair for your wardrobe. It starts with a deep, pure navy indigo shade -- the perfect starting point to get nice wear on. At 14 ounces, this fabric feels substantial on. It has a fair amount of starch when raw which will help you get some nice creasing. Finally, it gets a very unique selvedge ID that has a wide white line bordered by thin peach colored ticking. This is beefy American denim that's built to last.

This is the same style and quality that was sold in boutiques all over the country for +.
