I am looking for someone to Coordinate events that explain and educate people about the dangers of toxic chemicals in the products they use everyday and for someone to promote our website. The right candidate should be passionate about toxic free and organic living. Please respond with your name, a little about yourself, your local phone number and tell me your response is not spam. Teams of two or three people welcome. A great summer job for college students and teachers, or the start of a career. Free training! Thank.
