2003 Honda Xr50 with Takegawa 88cc big bore kit with cone filter, manual clutch conversion, Tag Bmx bars, upgraded rear shock, heavy duty front springs and fork bushings(I'm 180lbs and the suspension doesn't sag with me on it), rear axle pegs, thicker seat(have original) and kill switch. I have the title, it was never transferred over but the previous owner did give it to me for proof of ownership. Have some spare, NIB brake shoes, spare levers, owners manual etc.. Currently has a scooter tire on the front and a knobby on the rear. The scooter tire on the rear wore out so I put the spare knobby I had on the back.

Starts up and runs great, will wheelie in every gear. It is sprung for an adult and with the big bore kit and manual clutch I wouldn't put a beginner on this one. It's great for messing around doing wheelies, jumping curbs and tearing up the woods or the streets. Even raced it at the Circleville go kart track in the Xr100 class and it didn't come in last.

Has the stock exhaust on it, it's quiet enough that in the 5 years I've been playing with it in my neighborhood I've never had any complaints.

$700 obo (may trade for things that go boom or a full size dirt)
