I do basically 24/7 childcare but don't charge much. I have 2 special needs kids. I have a lot of doctors appointments and therapy. I am looking for single female or single mom needing a place to stay in exchange for a little help when we have appointments or need to run errands. I have 2 dogs. If you have one that's ok but no more than one and nothing huge or aggressive. No cats. If you have a boyfriend and want to stay with them or visit family I don't need someone every day so that can be arranged. This would be ideal for someone working third shift or school time hours. Both of my boys are in school. I am married but some people are more comfortable with a female watching their kids. We have internet and cable. You would have a room. It has a dresser and small TV. I can get a bed if you don't have one. Would prefer someone with Autism and ADHD anxiety experience. I may be able to pay some from time to time but not much. Position is great for single.
