Hi, Moms & Dads! Loving nanny here looking for nanny/babysitting position. A little 5 myself: I am a very down to earth individual who is hard working, dedicated, passionate and takes pride in my work. I have alot of experience caring for kids from an early age and from then on, i've always loved being around them and likewise them. I've cared for kids of all ages. I absolutely love what i do! Im very mature, responsible, patient, caring, loving, energetic and a non-smoker/drinker. I m very resourceful and have great communication skills when it comes to talking and understanding children and their needs. I love to play games inside/outside and make crafts with them. I, also do light-housekeeping (pretaining to kids, other housekeeping/errands will require extra), cooking healthy meals/snacks and managing schedules for their daily activities. Only problem is im not driving right now but do have means to get back & forth or i can sit in my home. I am very dedicated to family i work for and think i would be a great asset to your family if you consider me, so please dont hesitate to contact me with any possible questions you may have, anytime! Im available to work IMMEDIATELY so hopefully i will be able to prove my extreme work ethic to you in the near future! Thanks in!
