I'm moving to New York City in August and my precious cat Marvin probably can't come with me. He loves being outdoors so I feel he won't be happy there and so I'm trying to find him a new home where he will be loved. I've had him since I was very young so he's getting older but he's still as spry and as loving as ever! I'm not looking for any compensation, I just need to make sure he has a good home. I can also supply a litter box.

A little more about Marvin:

He's an orange tabby and he's around 20 lbs so he's a big boy! He's great with people and used to get along with other animals, but now in his old age he likes to keep to himself so I wouldn't recommend taking him if you have another cat. He's very friendly otherwise, he would never hurt a soul. He's not a cuddler but he does like to sleep with you :)

I need to get him into a new home as soon as possible so please email me if you're interested!!
