I have a Dodge Ram 1500 that the engine has just been rebuilt for already. It is hanging in place and we have all of the necessary parts to finish the job. The mechanic I have now has just been in an auto accident and cant finish the work.

Here is what I need. I need an ASE certified mechanic to come this Tuesday 07-14-2015 at 9 AM to finish the job. The original mechanic will be here to help direct and explain what needs to be done but he cant do heavy stuff. We need this done the same day. It has been held up for seven months. Way to long. My wife is handicap and we need the vehicle to get her to appointments as well as emergencies. This is a big deal.

Its just a matter of bolting the engine with I think 4 bolts to the truck and transmission. Then Putting the radiator, alternator, air conditioning, battery and belts back on. There are a few other minor things but its very straight forward and as I said the original mechanic will be here to help guide everything you do.
