I am still missing my Pooki-Bear. He has been gone since around April or May, and has not returned. Please, please let me know if you have seen him recently. I love him dearly. In the meantime, I have adopted another cat, but I still miss my Orange Tabby and the way he used to flop next to me, pressed against my chest when I laid in bed, and he had the fluffiest belly which he was very fond of having rubbed. He is very much a pampered outdoor cat. He yowls loudly to be let outside, which used to annoy me some, but now I miss the sound of him wanting to be let outside or back inside. He is very cuddly and lovable. He kind of looks fat, but he's actually pretty buff, and his paws are large for a cat, but he's kind of a big boy. His orange stripe under his chin stops his face from looking so fat, but he's a big lazy bum when he's inside. Oh, and if someone has him and is taking care of him, he loves the toys that look like a fuzzy worm that you wave on a stick. He didn't have a collar on when he left because he broke and lost the black one I bought him. Before that he had a weird chili pepper one. Either way, he gets his collars really dirty.

If you happen to have him, and have adjusted to having him around, I won't ask for him back, although I would love nothing more, but I really just want to know that he's okay and alive. We've been through a lot together. He's my Pooki-Bear. He snores too, you know. It's quiet, but when he's cuddled close and sleeps on his back, it's like a little old man snore. Please let me know if you see him or know where he is at. I don't have money for a reward, or I'd offer everything I had to get him back. If you do know where he is and a reward would convince you to bring him back to me, I should be working soon, and I keep my word. I can offer $100 dollars and give it to you when I get my first paycheck. I just really miss him, which hurts really bad every time I crawl into bed and he's not there to cuddle with. I don't really have anyone in the house who understands cats, and though I know he was the only one to be with me, I could never find an adult who would take care of him. Please let me know if you see him or know where he is at. I can offer $100 dollars and give it to you when I get my first paycheck. I just really miss him, which
