I am done messing around and starting my own thing. I need to build a portfolio, and you want or need a good sized collection of high quality artistic photos of your beautiful self. I am a highly skilled and talented artist who has been working for others for far too long. I recently pissed off my employer and got kicked to the curb. Now the best revenge is living well. This is a kind of a barter situation, you give me a couple of hours of your time I'll give 36 hours of mine. I take great pains in the processing of my photography and the result is world class. This is a good offer, I intend to be very expensive in the near future and for you it will all be free. CL is a bit weird at times so I'm going to vet responses just a little bit to make sure I am not being fucked with. When I am reasonably confident I am communicating with a real person I'll provide a link to my most recent.
