This is Tux, he was a stray that my ex started feeding and now never leaves me alone haha. He's a nice enough cat to people but he really does not get along with other kitties from what I've seen. So unless you're some kind of master cat trainer he needs to be the king of the castle. He does not get along with my cats at all so I'm trying to find him a good home. He has been fixed, and is primarily an outdoor cat (he'll come in for food/sleep). My guess is he's around 4-5 years old, but I have no clue really. Would be great to hear from someone who will love him,!
