
you

-under 25

-likes fast "rock"

-plays an instrument, pref drums

-non restrictive fun(dont think of gg allin)

-into playing live/recording

-not too far

-not a huge fucking asshole/dick/cunt(obviously it doesnt/shouldnt matter whether youre female or male for this "spot" but if these words were to stop you, good. enjoy living your life feeling fuddled by what other people will/might say about you. because believe it or not its not up to you to tell people what to say. proceed to whine/fight/feel fuddled about it. thats right you tryhard activist, i want to say cunt and faggot even though im a lesbian tranny. spoiler: im not)

me

- same shit

email me for more info(location, age, actual music, senior therapy) i offer the last one for fun due to geographical circumstances *also, feel free to send me a bunch of whiny emails or make reply posts about this one if youre old and undergoing midlife crisis. its always funny hearing walking antiques rant and bitch about their mistakes or how everyone should play the same guns n roses/poison/bon jovi/rock ballad cover songs for pretty much ever because they can get paid 5$ a show and love music so much. if you dont like things, they shouldnt exist (lifes irony) so flag away you dust layered
