Yamaha AX-592 Integrated Stereo Amplifier

The AX-592 provides 100 watts per channel with low distortion. It delivers enough power to comfortably handle the requirements of most rooms and most speakers. The AX-592 can be the control center for even a very sophisticated system. It has inputs for two tape decks, CD player or changer, tuner, phono, and one additional component. Any input source can be selected via the remote control keypad. You can bypass the tone, loudness, and balance controls, routing the signal directly to Yamaha's discrete power amplifiers to provide the purest signal possible.

Yamaha TX-492 Stereo Tuner

Direct PLL -- Phase Locked Loop -- tuning LSI circuitry combined with a microprocessor controlled IF count synthesizer tuning system precisely locks onto the broadcast frequency for super-accurate tuning. This Absolute Linear Phase IF Amplifier is a Yamaha-developed circuit that provides excellent selectivity, interference rejection, phase linearity, and improved channel separation, while maintaining extremely low harmonic distortion. By using ALPHA circuitry, the TX-492 provides better selectivity than other models in this price range. Preset Editing allows you to change the presets as you wish and organize them in five groups of eight stations. The tuner automatically "memorizes" your settings for AM or FM band, stereo or mono mode, as well as the station's.
