I am an aspiring film maker and I'm working on a body consciousness series for my youtube channel that I want to gain popularity with.

Looking for models for a few different shoots. The two main ones are about gaining the freshman 15 in college and the weight that it is said you gain in your twenties. Models must be able to appear slim for the beginning scenes and must be able to bloat their belly (food Baby) as big as possible for the "weight Gain" scenes. In this fat phobic society that urges woman to dress in a way that makes them appear slim , I want to showcase the realities of the different types of bodies .

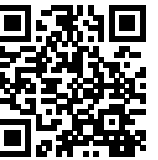

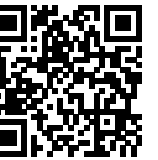

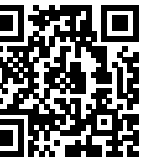

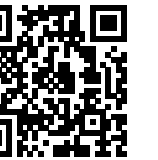

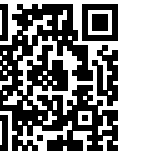

Looking for slim , average, or curvy girls who have the ability to bloat their belly so that itd appear noticeably bigger in proportion to the rest of your body. Each shoot should last about one hour. Fully Clothed, maybe just bare belly but that's it.

The point of The Shoot you ask?

"Fat" is so demonized in this society and I aspire to show the world what "real" woman are like and not the photo-shopped images in magazines and mainstream media. I want to use a creative way to paint thicker woman in a more positive way.

I can provide links to check out my previous video and photography work.

email and I will respond promptly. Ready to work as soon as you.
