Getting back into video work, particularly for bands and musicians. What makes me different from the other video guys on Craigslist? I'm a musician myself.

I've played (and play in) bands, I record bands, I shoot bands photos, all my friends are musicians and active in the music scene.

In short, I know how to find the root and rhythm of the song and I know what shots needs to be accented and where. That probably sounds cocky, but it's something I enjoy.

Prices vary on project.

Most start around $300, sometimes they cost less, contact me and we'll figure out an estimate, and check out the samples on my site for previous work.
