Changing Directions

Recovery Housing
2119 Hollins Ferry Rd
Baltimore, MD 21230

Changing Directions provides a transitional structured, safe and clean living environment for men in early recovery. We promote personal growth and productivity in men while monitoring their progress and behavior.

Ran exclusively by men who were themselves once addicted to drugs and alcohol, Changing Directions is designed to succeed where similar programs fail. Working with each client on an individual basis, we hold our men accountable for their actions while teaching them to be self-sufficient from the very beginning. We are also fortunate enough to be well connected in the community which allows us to provide jobs and resources our clients wouldn't otherwise have access to.

Finally, we closely monitor progress through random drug testing, breathalyzers, progress reports and a number of other tools.

If you or someone you know might need something like this, please feel free to contact us. We aren't going to be here tomorrow. Brian Taylor
