Let me try and understand this. If i am capable of building and repairing fences and i furnish the company a truck i make 12.50 hour. First off 12.50 isnt shit for someone capable of doing good fence work but to have to supply a 2000 or newer truck for company use is fucked up. Im sure everyones running straight to the dealership as i write this. If you supply a truck to a company you should receive at least 600.00 in car allowance plus fuel. Your going to wear your vehicle out pay insurance and have it depreciate to make this prick money. Fuck that this guy dont care about you he makes that perfectly.
