AHEX, we are so fiercely dedicated to quality that we design our vertical systems to outperform all others in tanning business reliability, engineering and of course profitability.

Though its exterior reveals graceful lines, the true beauty is deep inside in the engineering. Because ultimately what you want is your skin to glow with a smile, looking beautiful. The results are clearly reflected in your bottom line. And from that perspective, your HEX is one beautiful machine.

The inside story on us

We began in 1975, which means we can claim what no other company can: We were the first tanning manufacturer in the U.S. and we introduced the world's first tanning system. Although HEX has inspired many imitations since then, there is no such merit to our copycats than simply being true.

Before HEX, Rx

How to control the HEX concept, we were designing and manufacturing phototherapy equipment for the medical profession. The American Academy of Dermatology requested our medical light therapy systems be exhibited at conferences. We investigated ways in which our technology and experience could benefit the wider public -- and the HEX vertical tanning concept was born.
