Yeah, there are a bunch of ads looking for this. Here's why you ought to pick me:

No, I'm not gonna pay you thousands for just a couple hours of work, but think about it, is that really right? Do you really wanna sell your body like that, like it's a sexual object? I will compensate you a normal amount of money because that is what you'll deserve. It's art, and I want to appreciate you for helping me refine my craft. That's all.

So, I've worked with four women doing this. I want to get better, though. I have an eye for beauty, but sometimes I don't know it until I see it. The creation portion (directing your poses, for example) is a bit harder, but thankfully digital photography allows us to take plenty of shots without needing to worry about the development process. I've always been decent at taking scenic portraits, but the human body is such a different thing to capture. Hence, I seek the most beautiful of all life forms: the human female body.

If you're interested in working with me, if you want me to help capture your beauty and make it last forever, write me. Naturally, feel free to ask me any.
