Do you need a ceiling installed or tiles replaced? I can do it. I've been installing acoustical ceilings for 16 years and my quality of work is second to none. I've worked on everything from small one room condo to nine story research hospitals. Great for a basement where you don't want to have to cut out drywall in the future if you ever have a small leak. You can just pop a tile out as needed. (Not a handyman)
