As you may or may not know, to get your dealers license, the state requires that you have a legal place of business, but not just any location qualifies, you must have one with proper zoning and one that has its own legal address. You will have absolutely no zoning certificate OR certificate of occupancy issues with our buildings.....This is important....make sure you check on these zoning certificates and occupancy permits BEFORE signing a lease anywhere. Before signing a lease anywhere, make sure the property is properly zoned so you can get a zoning certificate, secondly, if the office appears to inside another suite without a separate entrance, ASK about an occupancy permit. If you dont have an occupancy permit, order to keep your license. FREE wifi is included with the phone service.
