I am trying to manifest a symbiotic relationship with someone in Providence (or surrounding area) who can watch Kipee (my 9 yr old bichon dog) for a part/full time position m-f. I am searching for someone who ideally is home most of the time any ways, and could use a snuggly "rag doll" companion, (who gives ample love medicine and emotional support) throughout the day. Financial compensation is certainly on the table, but I am trying to make it so that I am not using half my pay check for someone to watch a fur baby, who literally is 0 hassle. Shes a certified emotional support animal, hypoallergenic, doesn't bark, and is seriously the best creature EVER.

An ideal fit may be someone who is a stay at home mom, someone who works from home, somebody who is retired and seeking a companion, or some variation of staying home often. She has separation anxiety because she is my therapy dog and with me all the time, so she gets very sad and barks when she is alone. Hence me looking for a sitter for her

She is VERY low maintenance, and typically finds herself sleeping while you go about your business, or cuddling you if your sitting or laying down. She wont bother you to go out or do anything, so you would need to be the leader for potty breaks (has never had an accident).

I am also interested in doing barter/trades as well; such as: cleaning your home; reiki session; or any other way you think you may need support. If you, or any one you know may be interested in helping a sister out, whilst allowing me to help you out, then please reach!
