In any case, talented singer, guitarist, and bassist looking to complete quartet for general business and wedding gigs. All three have extensive experience performing at weddings, corporate events, and other similar contractual gigs. Repertoire will be some light jazz for cocktail hour or dinners set, and otherwise mostly dance music of all genres. Pay will generally be between 300-500 per player per gig.

What we would expect from you:

- Prior experience playing jazz, r&b, disco (and to a lesser degree rock) commonly associated with this work. Versatility is a must.
- Strong work ethic & preparation: all material must be fully learned before attending rehearsals, which will be kept to a necessary minimum. We will not be using rehearsal to learn individual parts, which need to very closely represent original recordings.
- Self-sufficient with good, professional gear and independent transportation. Most gigs will be in the Boston eastern MA area.

This is a great opportunity to make decent money with a project that has good connections in the industry. Look forward to hearing back from you with a run-down of experience, pics or videos. Thanks !
