We are in high demand for volunteers with coaching certifications and passion for making a difference in nonprofit community by providing leadership, executive, business, or performance coaching to the senior level leaders including Executives, Directors, Board members, and teams.

501 Commons provides high quality, affordable consulting, coaching and training services to nonprofits, schools, and public agencies thanks to a corps of skilled volunteers who put their expertise to good use. The Executive Service Corps, a program of 501 Commons, is dedicated to connecting the skills and expertise of volunteer consultants with organizations in need of planning and management consulting. As a coach with 501 Commons you can help support nonprofits on projects such as:

- Increased awareness and confidence in leadership abilities
- Improved clarity and ability to guide the organization toward fulfillment of its vision
- Enhanced relationships with staff, Board, and others
- Improved time management and productivity
- Increased job satisfaction and optimism about their organization
- Expanded personal and organizational capacity

Our typical coaching engagement is 15 hours over 6 months where some sessions happen in person and others over phone or video conferencing.

As a service corps member, you will:

-Be a part of our coaching community with ample networking opportunities
