QR Code Link to This Post I'm a multi-instrumentalist, with a guitar and keyboard, that was wondering if there was maybe a drummer/percussionist, and another multi-musician with both a guitar, keys/synths, of like mind somewhere in town.

That would be interested in starting, essentially, a lo-fi minimalist, shoe-gazey/no-wavey, doom metal group of sorts.

While not so much relying on speed, and intricacy, but, would still be heavy in dissonance, relaxing in repetition, yet, still disjointed enough to challenge people.

The only set backs being that I myself can't host for rehearsals, and am not mobile, but, my stuff is easy to transport.

If I have so far piqued your interest, but were curious as to my inspiration(s) for this concept. I've included a list of bands below to give one an idea, as to the range of sounds and aesthetics that I'm drawing from. They include, but are not limited to:

- Joy Division
- Durutti Column
- Suicide (Alan Vega/Martin Rev)
- Throbbing Gristle
- Gary Numan (Tubeway Army era, and "Sacrifice" onwards)
- Neu!
- Killing Joke
- Teenage Jesus and the Jerks
- Swans
- Sun Ra

- Brian Eno

- Negative

- Godflesh

- Jesu

- Burzum

- Deafheaven

- Nails

- Tears for Fears

- Lustre

- Tranceikonic

- Autumn

- Scars

- Space

- Scars
