QR Code Link to This Post My company is general contractor based out of Los Angeles, CA. We have a client who recently acquired eight multifamily properties in Las Vegas, CA. They are looking to perform the following water conservation efforts at each of these new properties: installing new premium efficiency toilets, replacing shower heads with low flow shower heads, replacing faucet aerators in bathroom/kitchen sinks.

My company has performed tens of thousands of these measures, and while we are licensed to perform this work in California, we are looking for a licensed NV plumber to partner with to complete this project on behalf of our customer, preferably a 1-2 person operation. We will supply all materials and can lend our crew of technicians to complete the project, but we do need a licensed NV plumber to serve as a foreman on the project, which will take roughly 1 month to complete.

If you meet the qualifications and are interested, please shoot me a quick email at and I will set up a time to discuss.
